

I drive a truck for living and rely on satellite radio for traffic and weather reports to help me plan my trips and warn what is ahead of me. Plus the entertainment and news channels keep me informed and entertained. There are more important things in this country that needs to be taken care of. Plus the fact that I and many others pay for this premium service. (just like cable and satellite t.v. , it is cable for radio and people are willing to pay for it). so leave the satellite radio companies alone. If the NAB would improve fm/am radio signal strength and content. there would not be a need for this medium. but i enjoy it (and I'm paying for it so leave it alone). thanks
